

- 8 -
Saint-Malo
France
2001

EWIC returned to France for the first year of the new millennium. The scenic environment of the city of Saint-Malo, in Brittany, surrounded by its medieval granite walls created an inspiring context for the meeting.

The old city of Saint-Malo...

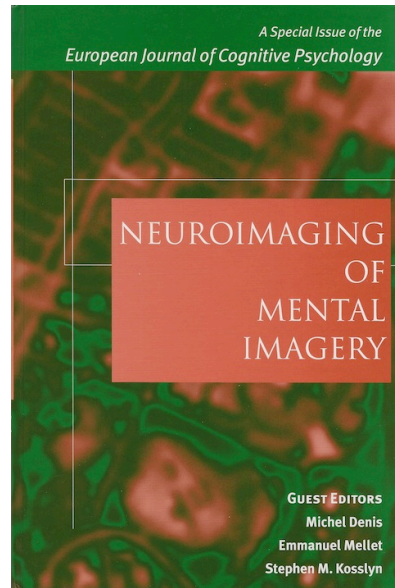

... and the logo of the Eighth EWIC.

Follow the arrow(s)!

Keynote speakers were Marc Jeannerod (ISC-CNRS), Stephen Kosslyn (Harvard), and Barbara Tversky (Stanford). The program included a total of 107 oral and poster presentations.

A novel feature of this EWIC was a special session entitled "Neuroimaging Investigations of Mental Imagery". Its contents served as a starting point for a special issue of the European Journal of Cognitive Psychology. This issue was also published by Psychology Press as a hardback volume.

M. Denis, E. Mellet, & S. M. Kosslyn (Eds.) (2004).
Neuroimaging of mental imagery. Hove, UK: Psychology Press.

More on this book by clicking on this link:

<http://www.micheldenis.fr/wp-content/uploads/2013/07/2004-Neuroimaging-of-mental-imagery-txt.pdf>

The EWIC family on the Saint-Malo ramparts.

A satellite symposium... A crew of high visuo-spatial imagers boarding the ketch "Etoile Molène" for a special cruise on the Rance river.

Happy keynote speakers and a happy organizer enjoy the generous welcome reception at the Saint-Malo City Hall (center: Dominique Taillandier, Deputy Mayor for Tourism and Congresses).